Collections of Waikiki stores can be found at the Sheraton Waikiki, The Royal Hawaiian, a Luxury Collection Resort, Moana Surfrider, A Westin Resort & Spa, and Sheraton Princess Kaiulani, providing an accessible and varied shopping and dining experience.

Property History:

Sheraton Waikiki

Opened June 1971, Sheraton Waikiki recently completed a $187 million dollar renovation which was completed January 2010. The transformation included a new entrance, relocation of the front desk and significant upscale landscaping and water features, a new lobby, and two new pools. The Helumoa Playground is the largest pool in Waikiki and features a family fun environment with a water slide and many additional activities to keep everyone engaged. The new adult-only Infinity Edge Pool presents a sophisticated, upscale atmosphere that offers a relaxing and defining guest experience.

The Royal Hawaiian, a Luxury Collection Resort

The Royal Hawaiian, a Luxury Collection Resort opened February 1, 1927 and was fashioned in a Spanish-Moorish style popular during the time period and influenced by screen star Rudolph Valentino. Re-designed in 2009 by renowned architect Robert Iopa, accommodations combine rich, original fabrics with indigenous materials and cultural artifacts to reflect the hotel's rich heritage. The resort lobby has been enlivened by newly appointed Koa wood desks, classic Hawaiian artwork by Eugene Savage and brilliant tropical botanicals, offering authentic and enriching experiences, refined service and an elevated ambiance of unrivaled facilities and location.

Moana Surfrider, A Westin Resort & Spa

Designed in the classic Beaux-Arts style architecture of the period, the Moana Surfrider, A Westin Resort & Spa officially opened March 11, 1901. The hotel takes its place among America's leading hotels with its original Banyan Wing listed in the National Register of Historic Places. The elegant architectural features of the hotel have remained intact and an important piece of Hawai'i's history has been preserved.

Sheraton Princess Kaiulani

Sheraton Princess Kaiulani opened June 11, 1955 and houses historic photographs of the princess and the royal monarchy throughout the property. In 1958, The Sheraton Meeting House (now the Ainahau Showroom) was added and built adjacent to the hotel. The Diamond Head Wing (now the Kaiulani Wing) opened in September 1960 at a cost of $2.8 million, adding 210 rooms. A showroom seating up to 700 was added to the property, as well as a 275-car garage. Twelve luxury suites were added in 1959. The last wing of the hotel, the 29-floor Ainahau Tower, opened in 1970.
